For normal people it's just another day, but for we people it's special. No matter how much we curse our teammates, project or company . But the fact is that iGate gives us the opportunity when we have none. If we rewind our life exactly by 1 year 1 month, we'll see that we all were depressed, some to get a job anyhow and some to switch to other company. Then from out of the blues ,iGate conducted a drive. Lots of people attended. I can Still visualize the long queue I saw in front of iGate office. Lots of people got rejected, lucky us we made it through. That call from HR on 21st October made the festival much more happier for all of us. That time we felt whatever hard work we did to get an engineering degree finally paid off. We all came here with a mindset that it's corporate , we'll work hard, perform well, get good feedback etc. etc. But from day 1 of training it's like another college or worst , coz here u cannot bunk sessions or take leaves every other day. We have to sit continuously 8 hours and listen to whatever the presenter would say ,though many of us slept in most of the lectures 😊 , still it's difficult to manage. Apart from this boring stuff everyone enjoyed in his own way, B'Day celebrations , making fun of people and all , sleeping as we are in home during virtual sessions etc.

But on the serious note-We all came here as a novice but now some of us are getting acknowledged on organization level for the work they have done. It's feels really great and proud to see the name of an acquaintance in companies mails.

So no matter what u r working or how u r working. What matters is U R WORKING , and it's been an year. Still many of my acquaintance are looking for a job, or trying to figure what they have to do with their future. So be grateful to iGate

P.S - We have signed only 2 year bond, U can leave iGate. No need to be so grateful and stick with it for the rest of your life © .

Happy Anniversary to all

Enjoy the day and every upcoming days ,coz work will keep on coming, there is no end to it.

Perform well,

Get good rating
